Vol. 2, No. 2

Bishop Ford Diocesan High School, Brooklyn, N. Y.

May 1, 1964

dedication issue

let us pray

Hear us, O holy Lord, Father almighty, eternal God, and send thy holy angel from heaven to guard, cherish, protect, visit, and defend all who assemble, teach, and study in this building. Through Christ our Lord.

Thousands Thrilled . . . THIS IS GOD'S BUILDING NOW

This High School building is now God's building. For nearly two years, faculty and students alike, have awaited the dedication of our Bishop Ford High School. The Apostle of Brooklyn, Bishop Brian J. McEntegart officiated before an estimated crowd of over five thousand.

Splendor and ceremony were the order of the day. Even nature granted her best elements for the occasion. As the procession wended its way in front of the building, the lay-faculty were noticed first wearing their academic robes and the colors of the universities from which they received their degrees. Then came the long line of the familiar garb which is recognized throughout the world. Hundred of these Franciscan Brothers made their way through the honor guard which was formed by the Sophomore class. Following the Brothers, were the priests. All priests—different ages and titles and in varying degrees and colorful dress. At the end of this spectacular line came our Principal, Brother Timothy and the Very Reverend Brother Bertrand, Superior General of the Franciscan Brothers.

After all took their position in front of the school, Bishop McEntegart appeared before the main entrance accompanied by their Excellencies Bishops Boardman, Mullrooney and Denning of Brooklyn and Bishops Comber and Kupfer of the American Mission Society, the Congregation to which Bishop Ford had offered his services and his life.

After the singing of the National Anthem by the Glee Club, August Cammarata presented the Memorare Book for the Bishop's blessing and Student Council officers, Tony D'Anna and Ed McNamara delivered the Stars and Stripes to the Bishop. The Bishop then blessed the exterior of the school and dedicated it to God as a memorial to his loyal Brooklyn son, Bishop Francis X. Ford.

STUDENT COUNCIL PRESIDENT and vice president present colors for Bishop's blessing.

Once inside, the Bishop proceeded to the gymnasium, where before a crowd of 1500 he blessed the crucifixes which were to be placed throughout the building. Here he spoke of the proposed "crisis" concerning Religious and priestly vocations. Although admitting that a real shortage does exist, he saw as its cause the disruption of family life during the second World War and expressed his great optimism that within a very short time, the Almighty who recognizes our need, will cause the increase.

AFTER BLESSING BISHOP places crucifix on the wall where it will forever remain.

In the auditorium, Father McCarthy, School Chaplain, welcomed the illustrious assembly to Bishop Ford and introduced each speaker. Brother Timothy's words were heartfelt as he expressed his Congregations gratitude to the people and Bishop of Brooklyn for entrusting this school to the Franciscans; and he pledged the unsparing effort of the Franciscan Brothers in working for the youth who come under their care.

Bishop Comber, the dedicatory speaker, traced the life of Bishop Ford from youth until his death as a martyr. He expressed Maryknoll's debt to the people of Brooklyn for its remembrance of the Bishop by constructing this living monument to his name. He also spoke strongly upon the vast contribution of Religious Teaching Brothers throughout the United States. He urged that their work not be overlooked as he intimated is often the case. Bishop Comber pledged the support of Maryknoll prayers to the efforts of the Franciscan Brothers.

A spiritual gift was offered to Bishop McEntegart in the name of the student body by Alexander Krezemenski. Alex also gave expressions of gratitude to the people of Brooklyn and the loyalty of Bishop Ford Students to the Bishop of Brooklyn.

AL KREZMENSKI demonstrates student respect and affection for the Bishop in presenting him with spiritual bouquet.

When Bishop McEntegart was introduced, the people recognizing his prowess as an administrator, his vision as an educator, and the visible presence of Christ in the Church of Brooklyn, gave him a resounding ovation. The Bishop again demonstrated his optimism that Bishop Ford High School will be the nursery for vocations of all kinds—vocations to solid Christian marriage, Priesthood, Brotherhood—at home and in foreign lands.

After the ceremonies were concluded with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, the school doors were opened for a thorough inspection by all the people.

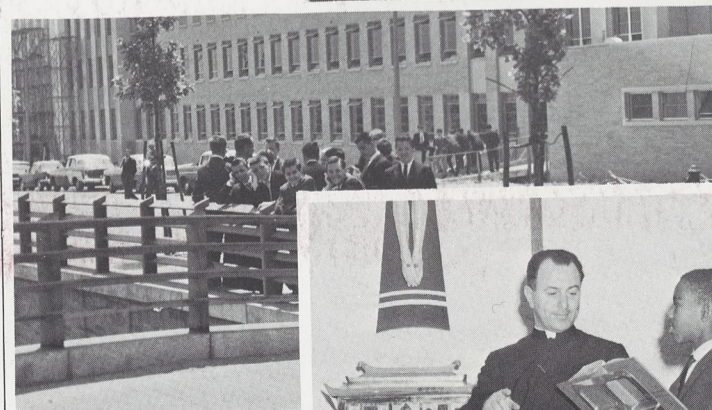

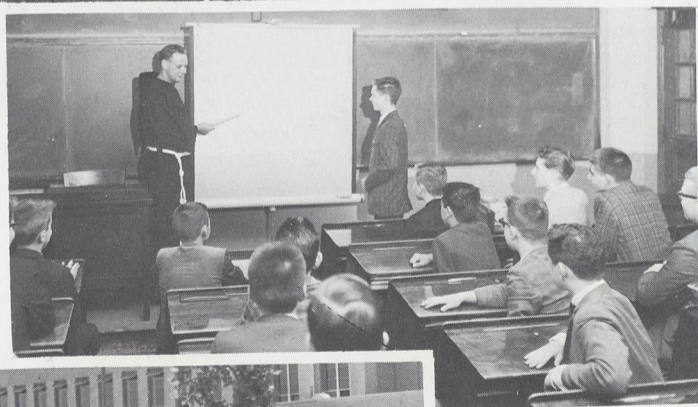

The annals of the school will record no greater day. Bishop Ford High School and its students have been dedicated to the honor and glory of God.

Ford's History To Date

Once a Civil War prison and Brooklyn's car barns, team has trouble with demolition.

Some remember the last class at 6:15 p.m.

A year ago tomorrow, happy students move from Loughlin.

Today every facility for development of men for God and country.

Editors Favored With Episcopal Interview

TOM AND HOLMES present copies of High Point to the Bishop during interesting and moving interview.

On March 2nd, Editor-in-Chief Tom and Managing Editor Holmes made an official visit to the Bishop of Brooklyn in order to present him with past copies of HIGH POINT. They had an appointment at the Chancery, the building which houses the Bishop's office. They were greeted by Father Vincent Powell of the C.Y.O. who introduced them to the Bishop.

After examining our issues of HIGH POINT the Bishop complimented them for their fine work and he enlightened them with the knowledge that Bishop Ford was also a newspaper editor who possessed quite an interest in printing. After a little subsequent inquiry Ken tells us, "Francis Ford came from a family of Journalists. His father was the Editor of the IRISH WORLD and his mother was an editorial writer for the Chicago Sun. The Bishop himself was editor of Saint Joseph's student publication, called "THE CHIMES."

ATMOSPHERE IS HEAVY WITH TRADITION

Kevin Holmes felt rather honored to be in the Bishop's office. The room had been the scene on frequent occasions when the affairs of the Church were decided and promulgated. Bishop Ford himself would sit in that room during one of his few visits from the Orient and relate his experiences and his really consuming love for his work.

FORD'S PERSECUTION IS SCORED

Bishop McEntegart related his own personal relationship with Bishop Ford and spoke in detail of the Maryknoll's endless tortures and humiliations proffered him as an accused American spy.

A picture of the meeting of the Bishop with Ken and Kev was seen in the Tablet. The picture only helped to concretize an unforgettable experience for them.

Freshman Orientation; Enrollment Up

In June there will be two days set aside for Freshman Orientation after the close of school. At this time approximately 425 students will have been enrolled at Bishop Ford for the September class.

They represent students from the Catholic population in forty-one parishes in Brooklyn. Admission was based upon entrance examination and the Parish Quota established by Diocesan School Officials.

In order to accommodate this massive influx of student population, ten additional Franciscan Brothers, increasing their number to thirty, and several lay teachers will be added to the staff.

Total student enrollment for three years of high school grades will exceed 1200 students.

MOTHERS CHOOSE PRES. AND CARD PARTY DATE

The first general meeting of the Bishop Ford High School Mothers' Guild took place on March 6th. Almost 250 mothers assembled for the initial meeting. Brother Aloysius, moderator of the Club, outlined the goals of the organization and by resolution it was decided that a nominating committee of fifteen women be elected in order to draw up a slate of officers to be elected at the next meeting.

PRESIDENT IS FLANKED by other executive officers with whom she'll serve until June '65.

On April 8, the assembly reconvened and unanimously accepted the entire slate. The Executive board of the Mothers Club will be:

President ..... Marie Kiernan
Vice-president ..... Patricia Keenan
Corresponding Sec't ..... Marie Divine
Recording Sec't ..... Maria Canapini
Treasurer ..... Grace Scala

Following the election of these officers, who will maintain their position until June 1965, the constitution was voted upon and also received a unanimous vote. The President then appointed the Chairman of the various Standing and Special Committees.

Mrs. Rose Dunn was introduced as Co-chairman with Mrs. Peggy Madden for the Card Party to be held on June 12th. She requested a donation of prizes and asked for volunteers for the many committees required to bring the affair to a social and financial success.

Every mother of a Bishop Ford High School student is automatically a member of the organization. Active membership should be everyone's goal.

Holy Week Observed By Student Retreat

As an important segment of the Religious Program at the school, the annual Retreat was conducted by Father Joseph McCarthy in the school auditorium during Holy Week. It consisted of daily Mass, (full participation) spiritual talks and benediction. Originally, the retreat had been scheduled earlier, but the circumstances of an incomplete building forced its postponement.

FATHER MCCARTHY's efforts are rewarded by student enthusiasm and participation during retreat.

Father McCarthy's series of talks covered pertinent topics. He gave a great deal of discussion to the commandments, particularly Purity, the Mass and Confession. Father outlined the Sacrament of Penance as the means of obtaining God's mercy and a place for consultation. About ten priests joined Father for Confessions.

The object of the retreat was to re-awaken the religious zeal of the students; to present a deeper realization of spiritual things—in other words an evaluation of our self and our personal relationship with God.

All things being considered the Retreat evidenced success; however, only time will be able to present proof.

Krezmenski Silences Other C.W.V. Orators

Admittedly, a good orator these days is hard to find. There was a time when in politics and pulpit many a rousing delivery inspired enthusiasm and action. However, Alexander Krezmenski, 201, has demonstrated that the art and skill is not totally lost.

In his first attempt, Alex placed second in the oratical contest sponsored by the Catholic War Veterans. An individual trophy for himself and one for the school were awarded for Alex's fine handling of "My Place in America".

HARD WORD IS BASIC

It was not an easy task for Alex who, under the direction of his English teacher, Brother Fabian, subjected himself to long and strenuous practice sessions in the school auditorium and in various classes throughout the school. In these places, fellow students listened to his speech and carefully scrutinized it, often offering their criticisms. Al agrees that these sessions, though boring and sometimes embarrassing, were a real factor in helping him achieve proper intonation and stance.

Alex hopes that he may be entered in many contests to come and we at Bishop Ford certainly encourage him to do so.

Ford FBG Champs Go To The Fair

On May sixth, the twenty-six students who amasses the highest totals during the Franciscan Brothers' Guild will be treated to an expense paid trip to the 1964 World's Fair. The trip will include costs for private coach, general admission, luncheon, and exhibit fees. Brothers Aloysius and Sean will accompany the students.

It was originally planned that the students would travel by the "World's Fair Showboat". The company cancelled its operation. Each of these students demonstrated a great loyalty, ambition and willingness to help. They deserve this reward.

PRAY FOR YOUR VOCATION

WHY CELEBRATE A BROTHER'S JUBILEE?

Silver Jubilees are not so uncommon. Husbands and wives find the quarter of a century between their first romantic encounters and the deep-rooted realization of their need for one another only a short span of time. Many priests recall the awe and exhilaration of the first time that Christ came upon earth at their command, and wonder what has happened to the twenty-five busy, fruitful years. Yet, the Silver Jubilee of a Brother has a variation.

Of course all vocations come from God. Bishop Sheen puts it that "It takes Three to Get Married." Certainly every priest needs an intimacy with His Christ to be worthy in soul to utter the words of Consecration or to lift Christ's Hand in Absolution. Both in the married state and in Ordination, the very essence of these vocations is primarily for one's neighbor. The first end of marriage is to bring children into the world; and the Apostle Paul tells us that a "priest is a man taken from men for men." Hence, both serve God by serving God's children. To help both the parent and the priest, God has raised their way of life to a Sacrament. Each time both parent and priest act in the performance of their duty, the action is guided and strengthened by the Sacramental grace of either Matrimony or Holy Orders.

Now with a Brother there is a difference. He is called to be a Religious. His primary goal, his raison d'être, is exclusively for God. A Brother is called to live for God directly. This man is called not only not to own anything material, but not even to desire it. Nothing may be possessed but God Himself. The Religious has learned from the Old Testament that "Our God is a Jealous God" and he must not share his heart with any creature. Furthermore, the Religious must live absolutely by Faith. He is subject to God in the person of the appointed superior. He may not decide what to wear, when to rise, how to recreate, what to eat, what to read, where to go, what he is qualified to do. Always, at every instance, he is stripped of his own will and submits to the Will of God.

No goods, no attachments, no wills. Everything that the Brother has is offered to God. All of this sounds heroic and holy and it is. Yet, how does a man get his way when it is his very nature to acquire and possess, his instinct to give himself to others in love; his maturity to decide. All of these are wonderful, God-given qualities of humanity; but God call certain few to relinquish these gifts freely as an act of supreme worship to Him—in a way similar, although totally inferior—to the act of Worship offered by His Son on the Cross.

Still God has decreed no Sacrament for this state in life. He expects the sacrifice to be total. The one offering is not to be con- tinually aided by a particular Sacramental grace. He must work with only the ordinary graces which God gives to all men for their salvation.

These are the hard and cold facts of the Religious life, but it is by no means the total picture. God will not be outdone in generosity and really only the Religious knows to what full measure of peace and happiness God has brought. Even with all of Christ's agony on the Cross, who can say that he was sad! The act of total commitment to God by the Religious is not in any way accompanied by gloom. On the contrary, the Religious learns that even when depriving himself of his very own nature, as it would seem, in reality he is fulfilling it with the greatest Possession, the greatest Love and the greatest of all Independence.

It is appropriate that Brother Timothy's Jubilee now coincides with the feast of Saint Joseph the Worker. Saint Joseph is the Patron Saint of Religious Brothers. His virtues of humility and faith, obedience to God's Will and devotion to Jesus and Mary are basic virtues instilled into a Brother's life. Certainly, this particular feast is important because Brothers must as Joseph did, spend their life in the task of protecting and expanding the influence of Christ and His Mother.

Accolades are frequently empty and flattery is often insincere but we think that Brother Timothy by his life and example is another Joseph. Although as a Religious and an educator, he has been placed in high administrative positions, he has accepted each with a pronounced humility and a retiring spirit. He has abhorred the pomp that at times accompanies his offices and has shunned even minor forms of recognition of a job well-done. Even on this occasion, we are inhibited in offering praise, for we know that this would embarrass him. So by his attitudes and actions we are reminded of Joseph, and we think that the parallel is valid—even if Brother Timothy refuses to admit our logic.

However, we do not stress any personal quality of Brother Timothy's character as the sufficient motive for today's observance of his jubilee. Brother Timothy is a Religious and as such has given great glory to God. He, by his self-sacrificing acceptance of God's call, has made all of humanity a more pleasant vision to our Creator's sight. For these reasons we celebrate, for our own edification at the Religious State and we thank God that one of our number has pleased him so well.

To Brother Tim, God bless you. For ourselves, may we learn from you within the scope of our own personal vocation the dedication that will make our lives complete too.

N.Y. BASKETBALL GROWS TOO BIG WITH RICE

The climax to the most exciting Ford basketball season came on February 22, when the Falcons met Rice High School from New York. Almost the entire student body turned out to pull for its champions. The Falcons were first in their section of the Brooklyn-Queens J.V. division of the C.H.S.A.A.

A taller and much more seasoned Rice completely outplayed us in all respects. This ultimately led to an 87-47 humiliation and the elimination of the Falcons from City play-offs. Strange as it may seem, the 87 points scored by Rice were the fewest they had scored in one game all season.

"HOW HIGH does a guy have to go," asks Doug.

A cold Falcon team scored its first point at the 2:47 mark of the first quarter on Doug Assiff's foul shot. Doug lead the Ford scoring column with 14 for the day. It wasn't until 4:19 had gone by when our phenomenal Frosh sensation dumped the first field goal. Gene Mumford pulled down 15 rebounds against the monstrous Rice hoopsters and added six assists.

EVEN GENE gets behind a man now and then.

Rice led all the way and it was hopeless from the start. Yet, the fact that in only one year of competition Falcons entered the City-Championships was sufficient to cast away any gloom which might have prevailed.

Mr. Keegan's boys deserve credit for a great job!

SFP, 6-2 Brooklyn, 5-2 Drop Before Meyers

Almost a year has passed since the Falcons took the field for their first fame. The J.V. team of the last season played 500 ball against experienced competition and hopes to do much better this year. They will again compete in the C.H.S.A.A. The '64 season will see Ford's first baseball Varsity team. With new uniforms and shiny spikes, they will attempt to conquer their division in the Private School League

The Varsity coach is Mr. Nash who also piloted Frosh basketball. In an interview with him, Mr. Nash commented, "As a whole, the team is pretty good, with a fine assortment of varied talents. The boys are much stronger than they were at the beginning of training; but the main reason for playing this season is to give the fellows experience for future years.

The infield seems to be set defensively, but the opening outfield alignment isn't set. The pitching could use more experience, but this is why we are even participating in the league. Falcons will be playing against boys much older and stronger, but there are hopes that we will do well."

PITCHERS STILL GREEN

"The infield seems to be set defensively, but the opening outfield alignment isn't set. The pitching could use more experience, but this is why we are even participating in the league. Falcons will be playing against boys much older and stronger."

J.V. Keglers Place Sixth

In the Junior Varsity Catholic H.S. Bowling League, Ford Keglers placed sixth in the twelve team league. Over-all record showed 41 wins and 19 losses.

Most of the losses were at the hands of league veterans Saint Augustine and league champion Xavierian. The Falcons' record is impressive when it is considered that the league permits senior competition. In spite of this handicap, Ford upset former league powers by hard work and talent.

Members of the team rolled every Tuesday in league play since last October (holidays excepted) and practiced each Monday and Friday. Efforts were rewarded as Mike Mongelli became J.V., C.H.S.A.A. Individual Champ and Alex Pagliuca, with high team average of 167, and Joe Nugent garnered trophies for their above 200 games.

Moderator, Brother Aloysius in an interview commends all team members for "their hard work and endurance." Tony Durso, Frank Seggio and Mike Mongelli were other league members.

er, but there are hopes that we will do well."

8 FROSH PLAY VARSITY

About eight of the eighteen man roster will be frosh. Coach Nash has high expectations for Mike Nicklaris, the Savarese brothers, Frank Solomon and Ray Smeragliolo, among others.

Most of last year's J.V. are returning. The familiar battery with Meyers and Casey on the mound and Cutrone as backstop is expected to handle this chore again.

J.V. BATS STRONG

Doug Assiff's bat and speed seem even stronger than last year and Mr. Keegan, coach, sees the Freshmen who made the squad as assets and possible remedies for last year's fielding flaws. Lou Anamone, and Roger Yost have earned starting positions in the infield and Bob Catalano should add some pitching strength.

Brother Cajetan, moderator, expects a good season and is hoping for dry weather. Rain or shine, the J.V. has the makings for causing lots of trouble around the league.

Ford Rips Enlist For Bowling Fun

Two hundred and seventy Falcons flocked for membership in the Bowling Intra-mural Program. Because of the size three handicap leagues were established on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Teams consist of five bowlers who will compete for first, second and third place trophies in each league. Other awards will be presented for high average, high series and high game in each league. In addition, each bowler who rolls 200 or over will receive a trophy.

To date in the Monday competition, the Beatles of 101 who are 6-0, along with the Lucky Strikes of 103 are leading the league. Highest series belongs to Tom Murphy with 327 series and high game belongs to Bendas for a 191.

VIC ZAMBRANO ROLLS 234 HIGH

In the Tuesday battle, high series and high game belong to Vic Zambrano with a 355 series and a 232 game. Close behind are Bob Kresse with a 350 series and a 216 game and John Flecha who rolled 339 in two and a 200 in one. First place holders in team effort are the Fighting Wabbits and the Strikers of 206 and 204 respectively with a 6-0 record.

JUGS TAKE FIRST

Thursday's League shows even more talent with this line-up for high series: Al Diorio with 375 in two; Corny Sheehan's 356 and Tony D'Anna's 363 double game score. Individual high is Al Diorio's 200 game. Although the Imperials of 205 and the Jug of 207 are in first position, it looks like the Termites of 206 with a 755 average per five-man game are edging towards the top.

TROPHIES NEXT WEEK

Brother Aloysius is moderator and wishes to thank the officials of the Park Circle Lanes and league secretary Al Mahoney for every possible consideration which has been given to the league. Already plans are being formulated for a lengthened league next Fall.

FORD TALENT TALLIES GREAT TRACK SEASON

During the 1964 C.H.S.A.A. indoor track season, our Falcons rounded up twenty-four medals in relays, and two more for individual events. Frank Di Paolo took a bronze in the Varsity fifty yard dash and John Bifolco scored third in the Varsity hundred.

The Frosh gathered four silver medals in our 440 yard relay consisting of John Pinto, Bob Garigan, Mike Mauro and Joe Forgiarini. Another four were taken in the same event by Mike Alexander, Mike Maronna, Jim McCarthy and again John Pinto. In sub-midget competition (refers to weight class) Bob Shawsh, Paul Tutone, Pete Dunn and Joe Paolino received bronze awards for their third in the 220 yard relay.

Soph Relays also made themselves felt throughout the city. Frank Di Paolo, John Bifolco, Kev Hickey and Joe Delessio each took one gold medal in the novice 880 yard relay. Four bronze medals went to Tony Cafaro, Sal Pino, Jim Ruth and Greg Fitzgerald for their showing in the novice distance medley. The aforementioned 880 winners also copped four bronze medals in the Soph Sprint Medley.

In the opening two weeks of the outdoor season, Delessio, Bifolco, Pino and Fitzgerald were awarded four bronze trophies in a special medley (for those who broke their novice, but had at that time not won a varsity medal) at Mount Saint Michael's meet.

All in all, it was a metallic season due to the strenuous efforts of Track Coach Sullivan and Brothers Christopher, Sebastian and Campion.

SENA'S POSITION IS TOPS ON HONORS LIST

Both the second and third marking periods found Frank Sena leading the list of the FIRST HONORS. In this period Frank received a 95% average. He was trained by the Dominican Sisters at Saint Simon and Jude Parish. He finds geometry his most interesting subject and at the risk of incurring some enemies among some lazy Falcons, he attributes his good marks to "work."

Listed below is the upper-crust of Ford scholarship as their names appeared on the FIRST HONORS LIST.

Beauty And Inspiration Join For Chapel Windows

Stained-glass windows depicting great saints and illustrious quotations were installed in Ford's most important classroom, the Chapel. The new addition not only adds unquestioned beauty to the Chapel but also offers the students various examples whom they might imitate.

To the left of the entrance Saint Clare the founder of the cloistered order which takes its name from hers, Poor Clares, is depicted. Bishop Brooklyn-born martyr and patron of the school is viewed next. Then, the Poor Man of Assisi, Saint Francis is shown. Near the statue of Mary is the Nativity scene.

On the right, is Saint Bonaventure the Great Franciscan Doctor of the Church and Theologian, then Christ, the Good Shepherd, Who gives His Life for his sheep. Next is the first Franciscan teacher, Saint Anthony of Padua. Near the statue of the Sacred Heart is depicted the Risen Christ.

Ford students should examine the windows which have been put there at great expense for their inspiration.

Ford Thespians Conspire In O'Casey And Molière

On Sunday afternoon, May 10th, the Bishop Ford Dramatic Club will have its debut in the school auditorium. The first presentation is titled "Farce of the Worthy Monsieur Pierre Ptatlin." Mr. Hynoski is the director. Joe Diorio plays Ptatlin, a lawyer always trying to outwit his acquaintances; Mike McGreal makes a worthy wife for the "worthy Ptatlin"; Lou Venezia is the draper who gets the best of poor Ptatlin and Lou Gregorio. Tony D'anna is the judge who will decide the outcomes for you. This farce will hold as many surprises for the audience as it has for the unsuspecting cast.

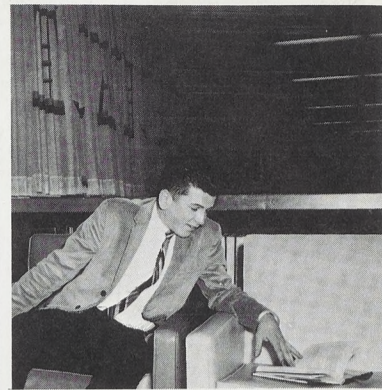

The other play is taken from the book "O'Casey's Irish Colloquial Comedy" and bears the name "Pound on Demand". It is an amusing story of two drunkard's trying to obtain a loan to finance their next spree. Howard Archer and Lawrence Flynn enact the parts of the inebriated pair. Supporting them (pardon the pun) will be Vincent Bruno, John Bielicki and Lou Ross. Directors of this hilarious comedy are Mr. Aylward and student Joe Cunningham.

The running time for each play is approximately one-half hour. The student body is encouraged to attend the performance which will prove both entertaining and educational.

FORD FOLIO

LEE CUTRONE-203

Lee is about as well-known as a Falcon can get. He has proven a great scoring asset on the court and crouches behind the plate for a strong J.V. team. Lee does well in all subjects and hopes for that college education which is not too far off. Lee resides in St. Agnes Parsh.

JOHN PINTO-101

This freshman has as much poise as a college prof and has demonstrated his leadership ability on Dance Committees. John is like lightning in the 440 yd. relay and has picked up the hardware to prove it. He knows that scholarship is important and his industry brings him good grades.

KENNETH NOLAN-101

Ken's freshman status on High Point staff is in attestation to his ability in writing. Apparently, he does well in other subjects for he's on the First Honors List. Ken keeps busy in the athletic department being a regular on this season's Frosh hoopsters.
